Reviews

The book is great and fantastic. It is written in straightforward words and phrases rather than difficult to understand. You won't really feel monotony at any time of your respective time (that's what catalogues are for regarding should you question me).

The uppermost (I) is ordinary helium. The second and third (II and III) are two photographs obtained from the gas generated by radium. In the second an exposure of twenty minutes, and in the third one of five minutes 138 HELIUM FROM URANIUM AND THORIUM were given. The lowest spectrum (IV) is that of hydrogen. It will be seen that many of the helium lines are present in the spectrum of the gas from radium. The other lines are those of hydrogen, due, no doubt, to the presence of a trace of moisture. The figures above and below the plate refer to the stronger lines of helium and hydrogen respectively clearly visible in photograph II. They refer to the wave-lengths in Angstrom units (10 metre). It must be remembered that the (visually) brilliant yellow line D_s, owing to its colour, appears far less intense in the photograph than the blue and violet lines. I have been engaged for four years in an attempt to detect the production of helium from the primary radio-elements uranium and thorium, and I have recently succeeded in proving in both cases that helium is produced, and, moreover, that the rate of production is almost exactly what is to be expected from the theory of atomic disintegration. This quantity is about one five-hundred-thousand-millionth of the mass of the uranium or thorium per annum! A photograph of the apparatus employed, as it at present stands in the Physical Chemistry Laboratory,...
